

Table of Contents
Foreword

Introduction

1. Outline of the history of archaeological heritage education throughout the world
  - 1.1. Origins of museums and educational exhibits (up to the 18th century)
  - 1.2. Development of museum education in selected countries (the 19th through the 20th century)

2. Outline of the history of archaeological heritage education in Poland
  - 2.1. Early collecting and museum education (up to the 17th century)
  - 2.2. Collecting and museum education under the Partitions
  - 2.3. The Second Republic
  - 2.4. Polish People's Republic

3. Early schooling resources and textbooks for classes on antiquities in Poland

4. Archaeology at history classes in Polish schools

5. Visitor identification as the basis of museum education
  - 5.1. Children
  - 5.2. Families
  - 5.3. Adults
  - 5.4. Disabled persons

6. Archaeological heritage throughout the world – modern means of education and popularisation. Selected examples.
  - 6.1. Traditional exhibitions
  - 6.2. Interactive exhibitions and educational centres
  - 6.3. Reserves and archaeological parks, experimental archaeology, archaeological and historical open-air events
  - 6.4. Museum classes and interactive workshops
  - 6.5. Published popularising and educational materials
  - 6.6. Dramatical forms
  - 6.7. Multimedia
    - 6.7.1. Internet
    - 6.7.2. Films and educational TV shows
    - 6.7.3. Digital animations, 3D models, and holograms
  - 6.8. Visits to archaeological sites
  - 6.9. Associations of archaeology amateurs, and reenactment groups
  - 6.10. 'Open days' at excavations
  - 6.11. Museum teaching resources for schools

7. Archaeological heritage in Poland – modern means of education and popularisation. Selected examples.
  - 7.1. Museums, archaeological reserves, and heritage parks
  - 7.2. Traditional exhibitions
  - 7.3. Interactive museums
  - 7.4. Experimental archaeology and archaeological and historical open-air events

- 7.5. Museum classes and interactive workshops
- 7.6. Published popularizing and educational materials
- 7.7. Dramatical forms
- 7.8. Multimedial forms
  - 7.8.1. Internet
  - 7.8.2. Films and TV educational shows
  - 7.8.3. Digital animations and 3D models
- 7.9. Associations of archaeology amateurs, and reenactment groups
- 7.10. Educational heritage paths
- 7.11. Other forms of education

8. Summary

9. List of references

List of Tables